SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Community Redevelopment Act of 1969 (Act) was established with the intent to revitalize slum and blighted areas "which constitute a serious and growing menace, injurious to the public health, safety, morals, and welfare of the residents of the state." CRAs are funded primarily through tax increment financing (TIF). As property tax values in the redevelopment area rise above property values in the base year the redevelopment area was created, increment revenues are generated by applying the current millage rate levied by each taxing authority in the area to the increase in value. Each non-exempt taxing authority that levies taxes on property within a community redevelopment area must annually appropriate the amount of increment revenues to the CRA trust fund. These revenues are used to service bonds issued to finance redevelopment project. CRAs created prior to 2002 may receive TIF contributions for 60 years, while CRAs subsequently created may receive TIF contributions for 40 years. As of March 26, 2006, there were 171 CRAs in Florida.

This bill amends the Community Redevelopment Act to revise procedures for calculating tax increment revenues, adopting community redevelopment plans or modifications to plans that expand boundaries of a community redevelopment area, and revise procedures for delegating community redevelopment powers to cities by charter counties. Generally, the bill:

- Revises procedures regarding the adoption of community redevelopment plans by certain Community Redevelopment Agencies (CRAs), and modifications of community redevelopment plans that expand the boundaries of a redevelopment area, to require a joint hearing between the county and municipality to discuss competing policies and uses for the public funds.
- Establishes limitations in certain circumstances on the amount of tax increment contributions that taxing authorities must contribute to CRAs created after July 1, 2006 in a non-charter county, or to CRAs that extend a redevelopment plan beyond a specified time period. These limitations also apply to a CRA in a charter county if the CRA modifies its redevelopment plan after July 1, 2006, to expand the boundaries of the redevelopment area. The bill also authorizes interlocal agreements to provide alternative methods of calculating increment revenues contributed by a taxing authority to a CRA.
- Requires a charter county to approve or deny a city's request for delegation of community redevelopment powers within 120 days or the request is deemed approved.
- Authorizes city and counties to create a slum or blight area study prior to adopting a resolution to create a CRA.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on the state.

This document does not reflect the intent or official position of the bill sponsor or House of Representatives.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

BACKGROUND

Community Redevelopment Act Generally

The Community Redevelopment Act of 1969, Ch. 163, Part II, F.S. (Act), was enacted to provide a mechanism to revitalize slum and blighted areas “which constitute a serious and growing menace, injurious to the public health, safety, morals, and welfare of the residents of the state.” The Act authorizes each local government to establish one Community Redevelopment Agency (CRA) to revitalize designated slum and blighted areas upon a “finding of necessity” and a further finding of a “need for a CRA to carry out community redevelopment.” During the last two decades, municipalities, and to a lesser extent counties, have increasingly relied upon CRAs as a mechanism for community redevelopment.

CRAs are funded primarily through tax increment financing (TIF). As property tax values in the redevelopment area rise above property values in the base year the redevelopment area was created, increment revenues are generated by applying the current millage rate levied by each taxing authority in the area to the increase in value. Each non-exempt taxing authority that levies taxes on property within a community redevelopment area must annually appropriate the amount of increment revenues to the CRA trust fund. These revenues are used primarily to service bonds issued to finance redevelopment projects. CRAs created prior to 2002 may receive TIF contributions for 60 years, while CRAs subsequently created may receive TIF contributions for 40 years.

As of March 26, 2006, there were 171 CRAs in Florida.¹

Creation of Community Redevelopment Agencies

A county or municipality may not exercise redevelopment powers conferred by the Act until after the governing body has adopted a resolution finding that:

- (1) One or more slum or blighted areas, or one or more areas in which there is a shortage of housing affordable to residents of low or moderate income, including the elderly, exist in such county or municipality; and,
- (2) The rehabilitation, conservation, or redevelopment, or a combination thereof, of such area or areas, including, if appropriate, the development of housing which residents of low or moderate income, including the elderly, can afford, is necessary in the interest of the public health, safety, morals, or welfare of the residents of such county or municipality.²

Further, “[c]ommunity redevelopment in a community redevelopment area shall not be planned or initiated unless the governing body has, by resolution, determined such area to be a slum area, a blighted area, or an area in which there is a shortage of housing affordable to residents of low or moderate income, including the elderly, or a combination thereof, and designated such area as appropriate for community redevelopment.”³

³ s. 163.360(1), F.S.

The Act⁴ defines "slum area" and "blighted area" as follows:

(7) "Slum area" means an area having physical or economic conditions conducive to disease, infant mortality, juvenile delinquency, poverty, or crime because there is a predominance of buildings or improvements, whether residential or nonresidential, which are impaired by reason of dilapidation, deterioration, age, or obsolescence, and exhibiting one or more of the following factors:

- (a) Inadequate provision for ventilation, light, air, sanitation, or open spaces;
- (b) High density of population, compared to the population density of adjacent areas within the county or municipality; and overcrowding, as indicated by government-maintained statistics or other studies and the requirements of the Florida Building Code; or
- (c) The existence of conditions that endanger life or property by fire or other causes.

(8) "Blighted area" means an area in which there are a substantial number of deteriorated, or deteriorating structures, in which conditions, as indicated by government-maintained statistics or other studies, are leading to economic distress or endanger life or property, and in which two or more of the following factors are present:

- (a) Predominance of defective or inadequate street layout, parking facilities, roadways, bridges, or public transportation facilities;
- (b) Aggregate assessed values of real property in the area for ad valorem tax purposes have failed to show any appreciable increase over the 5 years prior to the finding of such conditions;
- (c) Faulty lot layout in relation to size, adequacy, accessibility, or usefulness;
- (d) Unsanitary or unsafe conditions;
- (e) Deterioration of site or other improvements;
- (f) Inadequate and outdated building density patterns;
- (g) Falling lease rates per square foot of office, commercial, or industrial space compared to the remainder of the county or municipality;
- (h) Tax or special assessment delinquency exceeding the fair value of the land;
- (i) Residential and commercial vacancy rates higher in the area than in the remainder of the county or municipality;
- (j) Incidence of crime in the area higher than in the remainder of the county or municipality;
- (k) Fire and emergency medical service calls to the area proportionately higher than in the remainder of the county or municipality;
- (l) A greater number of violations of the Florida Building Code in the area than the number of violations recorded in the remainder of the county or municipality;
- (m) Diversity of ownership or defective or unusual conditions of title which prevent the free alienability of land within the deteriorated or hazardous area; or
- (n) Governmentally owned property with adverse environmental conditions caused by a public or private entity.

However, the term "blighted area" also means any area in which at least one of the factors identified in paragraphs (a) through (n) are present and all taxing authorities subject to s. 163.387(2)(a) agree, either by interlocal agreement or agreements with the agency or by resolution, that the area is blighted. Such agreement or resolution shall only determine that the area is blighted. For purposes of qualifying for the tax credits authorized in chapter 220, "blighted area" means an area as defined in this subsection.

A "community redevelopment area" is defined as "a slum area, a blighted area, or an area in which there is a shortage of housing that is affordable to residents of low or moderate income, including the elderly, or a coastal and tourist area that is deteriorating and economically distressed due to outdated building density patterns, inadequate transportation and parking facilities, faulty lot layout or inadequate street layout, or a combination thereof which the governing body designates as appropriate for community redevelopment."

⁴ s. 163.340, F.S.

The division of authority between a county and municipality regarding the creation or expansion of a municipal CRA depends upon whether the county is a non-charter or charter county, or whether a CRA was created prior to adoption of a county charter. The division of authority may be summarized as follows:

	Authority over creation, expansion, or modification of a CRA
Charter County	Charter counties possess sole authority to create CRAs within the county, but may delegate authority to a municipality via interlocal agreement.
Non-Charter County	Non-charter counties do not have authority over the creation, expansion, or modification of municipal CRAs within the county. Therefore, a municipality may create a CRA and operate the CRA, requiring the long-term contribution of TIF payments from the county, even if the county objects or has other county funding issues to address.
A CRA created in a charter county prior to adoption of the county charter	The charter county does not have authority over the operations of the CRA, including modification of the redevelopment plan or expansion of CRA boundaries.

Governance of a Community Redevelopment Agency

The governing body of the local government creating a CRA may appoint a board of commissioners of between 5 and 7 members to govern the CRA, or the governing body may declare itself to be the CRA. A governing body that consists of five members may appoint two additional persons to act as members of the CRA board. In a home rule charter county, powers granted under the Act must be exercised exclusively by the governing body of the charter county unless the county adopts a resolution delegating such powers within the boundaries of a municipality to the governing body of the municipality.⁵ This limitation does not apply, however, to a CRA created by a municipality prior to the adoption of a county home rule charter. In addition, a non-charter county cannot exercise powers conferred by the Act within the boundaries of a municipality unless the governing body of the municipality expresses its consent by resolution.⁶

Community Redevelopment Agency Plans

Each community redevelopment area must have an approved community redevelopment plan in conformance with the local government comprehensive plan.⁷ The plan must be sufficiently complete to indicate any land acquisition, demolition and removal of structures, redevelopment, improvements, and rehabilitation to be carried out in the designated area.⁸ The plan must also provide for the development of affordable housing in the area or state the reasons for not addressing the issue in the plan.⁹ The local government may subsequently modify the community redevelopment plan upon the recommendation of the CRA.¹⁰

Section 163.361, F.S., governs the modification of community redevelopment plans, and authorizes CRAs -- those created by counties or cities -- to modify such plans after public notice and a public hearing. Section 163.361(1), F.S., allows amendments to the redevelopment plan to change the boundaries of a redevelopment area or the development and implementation of community policing innovations. The section places no restrictions on the magnitude of expansions or exclusions, nor does the section distinguish between modifications to plans in charter and non-charter counties.

Redevelopment Trust Funds and Tax Increment Financing

Section 163.387, F.S., provides for the creation of a redevelopment trust fund for each CRA. Funds allocated to and deposited into this fund are used by the CRA to finance any community redevelopment undertaken based on an approved community redevelopment plan. In tax increment financing, property values in a certain defined community redevelopment area are frozen by local ordinance at the assessed value for the base year, which is the year in which the community redevelopment area was established. As redevelopment proceeds within the redevelopment area, the actual assessed value of property within the redevelopment area should increase, generating tax increment revenues for the CRA.

Section 163.340(2), F.S., defines "taxing authority" to mean the state or any county, municipality, authority, special district as defined in s. 165.031(5), F.S., or other public body of the state, except a school district." Taxing authorities that levy ad valorem taxes on property located within a community redevelopment area are required to deposit the incremental revenue generated as a result of this increase in property value into a redevelopment trust fund for the CRA's use. Section 163.387, F.S., specifically provides that "the annual funding of the redevelopment trust fund shall be in an amount not less than that increment in the income, proceeds, revenues, and funds of each taxing authority derived from or held in connection with undertaking and carrying out of community redevelopment under this part."

Exemptions from Tax Increment Financing

Section 163.387(2)(c), F.S., exempts the following public bodies or taxing authorities created prior to July 1, 1993, from the requirement to deposit an appropriation equaling incremental revenue into a CRA's redevelopment trust fund:

- A special district that levies ad valorem taxes on taxable real property in more than one county.
- A special district, the sole available source of revenue of which is ad valorem taxes at the time an ordinance is adopted under this section.
- A library district, except a library district in a jurisdiction where the community redevelopment agency had validated bonds as of April 30, 1984.
- A neighborhood improvement district created under the Safe Neighborhoods Act.
- A metropolitan transportation authority.
- A water management district created under s. 373.069, F.S.

In addition, a local governing body that creates a CRA may exempt a special district that levies ad valorem taxes within that community redevelopment area from the requirement to deposit incremental revenue into a CRA's redevelopment trust fund.¹¹ The local governing body may grant the exemption either in its sole discretion or in response to the request of the special district. The local governing body must establish procedures by which a special district may submit a written request for an exemption from contributing to the trust fund. In deciding whether to deny or grant a special district's request for exemption, the local governing body must consider certain specified factors.

The local governing body must hold a public hearing on a special district's request for exemption after public notice of the hearing is published in a newspaper having a general circulation in the county or municipality that created the community redevelopment area. The notice must describe the time, date, place and purpose of the hearing, identify generally the community redevelopment area covered by the plan, and the impact of the plan on the special district that requested the exemption. If a local governing body grants an exemption to a special district, the local governing body and the special district must enter into an interlocal agreement that establishes the conditions of the exemption, including the period of time for which the exemption is granted. If a local governing body denies a request for exemption by a special district, the local governing body must provide the special district with a written analysis specifying the rationale for the denial.

The decision to either deny or grant an exemption must be made by the local governing body within 120 days after the date the written request was submitted to the local governing body pursuant to procedures established by the governing body.

Community Redevelopment Agency Powers

CRAs are granted those powers "necessary or convenient to carry out and effectuate the purposes of the act." These powers include the power to issue bonds and acquire property by eminent domain, if approved by the governing body that established the CRA. CRAs are also granted the power to undertake and carry out community redevelopment and related activities within the community redevelopment area. Redevelopment may include such activities as the acquisition and disposition of real property located within the community redevelopment area and the repair or rehabilitation of structures within the community redevelopment area for dwelling uses.¹²

Charter counties and non-charter counties are treated differently under the Act. Section 163.410, F.S., grants charter counties exclusive authority to exercise the powers of the Act, but allows a charter county to delegate such powers to a municipality. In 1983, ch. 83-29, L.O.F., was enacted to provide that the section does not apply to any community redevelopment agency created by a municipality prior to adoption of a county home rule charter. Noncharter counties are not granted exclusive control over community redevelopment activities.

Legislative Committee on Intergovernmental Relations (LCIR) Study

During the 2003-2004 interim, the LCIR conducted a study of economic revitalization initiatives in distressed urban areas. During the study, local governments in Florida cited CRAs as the most commonly used economic development and revitalization program in Florida. The LCIR continued reviewing the issue of urban revitalization with an emphasis on CRAs. At the conclusion of the review, LCIR issued a comprehensive report in January 2005 entitled Local Government Concerns Regarding Community Redevelopment Agencies in Florida (Report). The Report included the following "Findings":

- County and municipal governments agree that CRAs are useful mechanisms for addressing slum and blight.
- Representatives from municipal government and CRA officials prefer no change to existing CRA statutes, stating that current law has resulted in improvements to areas previously designated as slum or blighted.
- Representatives from municipal government and CRA officials also submit that any problems can best be addressed locally through interlocal agreements rather than statutory changes.
- Representatives of county government advocate changes to existing CRA statutes, stating current law is responsible for creating an imbalance in power between municipal and county governments.
- Problems cited by county government representatives include, among others: county government has insufficient input into operations and expansion of existing CRA districts and creation of new districts; and non-charter counties have no voice whatsoever in CRA activities within their jurisdiction.
- Current law does not require or provide for interlocal agreements between county and municipal governments.
- According to 2003 millage rates for county and municipal governments, 78 municipalities with CRAs have lower millage rates than their host county and 36 municipalities with CRAs have higher millage rates than their host county.
- LCIR staff estimates that, based on 2003 millage rates, county government contributes $81,674 to municipal CRAs per each $100,000 increase in the CRA district's taxable value (assumed increase), compared to municipal government contribution of $66,905 to municipal CRAs per each $100,000 increase in the CRA district's taxable value.

- A recent evaluation of three CRAs in Florida, sponsored by the Florida Redevelopment Association, found that TIF payments impose a greater financial burden on municipalities than on counties when measured as a percent of taxable property values and as a percent of overall operating revenues. In addition, some municipalities contribute larger TIF payments than do their host counties.

Effect of Proposed Changes

Section 1. Amending s. 163.340, F.S., relating to Definition of "Taxing Authorities"

This section amends s. 163.340, F.S., to create a definition of the term "taxing authorities" as follows: "Taxing authority" means any local government other than a school district that levies ad valorem millage against the property within a community redevelopment area." Under the Act, a taxing authority must appropriate tax increment revenues to the CRA for use in redevelopment projects.

Section 2. Amending s. 163.346, F.S., relating to Notice to Taxing Authorities

Currently, s. 163.346, F.S., requires a city or county governing body to notify all taxing authorities prior to enacting any resolution or ordinance required to create a community redevelopment agency; prior to approving, adopting, or amending a community redevelopment plan; and prior to issuing redevelopment revenue bonds. The governing body must provide public notice of such proposed action and, at least 15 days before such proposed action, mail by registered mail a notice to each taxing authority that levies ad valorem taxes on taxable real property contained within the geographic boundaries of the redevelopment area.

This bill amends s. 163.346, F.S., to also require notice to taxing authorities if the governing body of the city or county adopts a resolution establishing a slum and blight study area under s. 163.354, F.S., as created by this bill.

Section 3. Creates s. 163.354, F.S., relating to Development of Study Area

This new section authorizes the governing body of a city or county to adopt a resolution establishing a slum and blight study area before adopting a resolution making a finding of necessity to create a CRA as required by s. 163.355, F.S.

Section 4. Amends s. 163.360, F.S., relating to Community Redevelopment Plans

Under current s. 163.360, F.S., a county, municipality, or CRA may itself prepare or cause to be prepared a community redevelopment plan, or any person or agency, public or private, may submit such a plan to a community redevelopment agency. The CRA must submit any community redevelopment plan it recommends for approval, together with its written recommendations, to the governing body and to each taxing authority that levies ad valorem taxes on taxable real property contained within the geographic boundaries of the redevelopment area. The governing body must conduct a public hearing on a community redevelopment plan after public notice thereof by publication in a newspaper having a general circulation in the area of operation of the county or municipality. The notice must describe the time, date, place, and purpose of the hearing, identify generally the community redevelopment area covered by the plan, and outline the general scope of the community redevelopment plan under consideration. Following the hearing, the governing body may approve the community redevelopment and the plan if it makes certain determinations required by law.

This bill amends that section to create additional procedures for approving plans recommended by CRAs created after January 1, 2006, that were not created pursuant to a delegation of authority by a charter county to a city.

Within 30 days after receipt of any community redevelopment plan recommended by a CRA, the charter county must provide written notice to the governing body of the municipality that the county has competing policy goals and plans for the public funds the county would be required to contribute to the tax increment under the proposed community redevelopment plan. If the county provides timely notice, the board of county commissioners and the governing body of the municipality that created the community redevelopment agency must schedule and hold a joint hearing chaired by the county chair at which the competing policy goals for the public funds will be discussed. Any such hearing must be held within 90 days after receipt by the county of the recommended community redevelopment plan. Prior to the joint public hearing, the county may propose an alternative redevelopment plan to address the conditions identified in the resolution making a finding of necessity required by s. 163.355, F.S. The municipality may not proceed with the adoption of the plan until 45 days after the joint hearing unless the board of county commissioners failed to schedule and attend the joint hearing within the required 90-day period.

Notwithstanding these timeframes, the county and the municipality may, at any time, engage in the voluntary dispute resolution process established in ch. 164, F.S., the Florida Governmental Conflict Resolution Act, to attempt to resolve any competing policy goals between the county and municipality related to the CRA.

Section 5. Amends s. 163.361, F.S., relating to Modification of Redevelopment Plans

Currently, if at any time after the approval of a community redevelopment plan by the governing body of the city or county creating a CRA it becomes necessary or desirable to amend or modify the plan, the governing body may do so upon the recommendation of the CRA. The CRA recommendation to amend or modify a redevelopment plan may include a change in the boundaries of the redevelopment area to add land to or exclude land from the redevelopment area, or may include the development and implementation of community policing innovations. The governing body must hold a public hearing on a proposed modification of any community redevelopment plan after public notice thereof by publication in a newspaper having a general circulation in the area of operation of the CRA.

Prior to the adoption of any modification to a community redevelopment plan that expands the boundaries of the community redevelopment area or extends the time certain set forth in the redevelopment plan, the CRA must report the proposed modification to each taxing authority in writing or by an oral presentation, or both, regarding the proposed modification.

This bill amends s. 163.361, F.S., to create additional procedures applicable to municipal CRAs there were not created pursuant to a delegation of authority from a charter county if these CRAs wish to modify an adopted community redevelopment plan in a manner than expands the boundaries of the redevelopment area.

Within 30 days after receipt of any report of a proposed modification that expands the boundaries of the redevelopment area of a CRA created by a city located within a charter county without a delegation of authority from the county, the county must provide notice to the governing body of the municipality if the county has competing policy goals and plans for the public funds the county would be required to contribute to the tax increment under the proposed modification to the community redevelopment plan.

If the county provides timely notice, the board of county commissioners and the governing body of the municipality that created the community redevelopment agency must schedule and hold a joint hearing chaired by the county chair at which the competing policy goals for the public funds are discussed. A hearing must be held within 90 days after receipt by the county of the recommended modification of the adopted community redevelopment plan. Prior to the joint public hearing, the county may propose an alternative modified community redevelopment plan to address the conditions identified in the resolution making a finding of necessity required under s. 163.355. The municipality may not proceed with the adoption of the plan until 45 days after the joint hearing unless the board of county commissioners failed to schedule and attend the joint hearing within the required 90-day period.

Notwithstanding these timeframes, the county and the municipality may, at any time, engage in voluntary dispute resolution process established in chapter 164, the Florida Governmental Conflict Resolution Act, to attempt to resolve any competing policy goals between the county and municipality related to the expansion of the boundaries of the community redevelopment agency.

6. Amends s. 163.387, F.S., relating to the Redevelopment Trust Fund

Section 163.387, F.S., requires the establishment of a redevelopment trust fund into which all tax increment revenues are deposited. This section establishes the mechanism for calculating the tax increment revenues deposited into the trust fund for redevelopment purposes. CRAs created prior to 2002 may receive TIF contributions for 60 years, while CRAs subsequently created may receive TIF contributions for 40 years.

The bill amends s. 163.387, F.S., to limit the amount of tax increment revenue owed by taxing authorities to any CRA created after July 1, 2006, that is not created pursuant to a delegation of authority by a charter county, or that extends the time certain set forth in the redevelopment plan beyond 40 years after the later of the fiscal year in which the initial redevelopment plan is adopted or the most recent amendment to the redevelopment plan is adopted. The amount of tax increment to be contributed by any taxing authority is limited as follows:

- a. If a taxing authority imposes a millage rate that exceeds the millage rate imposed by the governing body that created the trust fund, the amount of tax increment to be contributed by the taxing authority is calculated using the millage rate imposed by the governing body that created the trust fund, provided that any taxing authority may voluntarily contribute amounts of tax increment at a higher rate for a period of time as specified by interlocal agreement between the taxing authority and the community redevelopment agency.
- b. At any time more than 19 years after the fiscal year in which a taxing authority made its first contribution to a redevelopment trust fund, the taxing authority may limit the amount of increment contributed by the taxing authority to the trust fund to the average annual amount the taxing authority was obligated to contribute to the trust fund in the 3 fiscal years immediately preceding the adoption of such resolution, plus any increase in the increment after the adoption of the resolution computed using the taxable values of any area which is subject to an area reinvestment agreement.

For any community redevelopment agency that was not created pursuant to a delegation of authority by a county that has adopted a home rule charter and that modifies its adopted community redevelopment plan after July 1, 2006, in a manner that expands the boundaries of the redevelopment area, the amount of increment to be contributed by any taxing authority with respect to the expanded area is limited as set forth in a. and b. above.

The bill also authorizes interlocal agreements between any taxing authority and the governing body that created the CRA that may govern amount and time of payment, interest rates, formulae and limits other than those specified by law.

Section 7. Amends s. 163.410, F.S., relating to Charter Counties

Currently, s. 163.410, F.S., provides that in a charter county, the powers conferred by the Act must be exercised exclusively by the governing body of the county unless the county governing body delegates the power, by resolution, to the governing body of a municipality. A delegation to a municipality confers only those powers that are specifically enumerated in the delegating resolution. Any power not specifically delegated is reserved exclusively to the county governing body. This provision does not, however, affect any CRA created by a municipality prior to the adoption of a county home rule charter.

Unless otherwise provided by an existing ordinance, resolution, or interlocal agreement between a charter county and a municipality, the charter county governing body must "act on" any request from a municipality for a delegation of powers or a change in an existing delegation of powers within 120 days after the receipt of all required documentation or such request must be immediately sent to the county governing body for consideration.

This bill amends s. 163.410, F.S., to require the county to “approve or deny” a request for a delegation within 120 days after receipt of all required documentation. If the charter county does not approve or deny the request within that timeframe, the request is deemed approved. Any request by the county for additional documentation or other information must be made in writing to the municipality. The county must notify the municipality in writing within 30 days after receiving all the required documentation and other requested information. If the meeting of the county commission at which the request for a delegation of powers or a change in an existing delegation of powers is unable to be held due to events beyond the control of the county, the request may be acted upon at the next regularly scheduled meeting of the county commission without regard to the 120-day limitation.
